The Healing Power of Acupuncture Seminar on Feb. 9

Free series, Strong and Smart: Living Well With Cancer, supports cancer survivors, patients

Kearney, NE – Community members can learn about The Healing Power of Acupuncture from the comfort of their homes or offices at noon on Feb. 9. To register for this free, one-hour telephone seminar, call 800-278-7837.

The Healing Power of Acupuncture is part of the Strong and Smart: Living Well With Cancer dial-up seminar series. Participants listen to medical experts via phone, view presentations on their computers and have an opportunity to ask questions.

Presenter Kevin Coughlin, MD, AAMA, medical acupuncturist, will discuss acupuncture and cancer survivorship. His presentation will include:

- The use of acupuncture in leading oncology centers in the U.S.
- Principles of classic Chinese acupuncture
- Modern research explanations of how acupuncture works
- Examples of acupuncture treatments for cancer-related symptoms, including fatigue and neuropathy after chemotherapy

Coughlin is a diplomate of the American Board of Medical Acupuncture, a fellow of the American Academy of Family Practice, an associate fellow of the Arizona Center for Integrative Medicine, and a graduate of the Helms Medical Acupuncture Institute/UCLA. He has been practicing medical acupuncture since 2003.

The next event in the Strong and Smart: Living Well With Cancer series is:

- March 10: Your Primary Care Doctor and Your Cancer Treatment

The Strong and Smart: Living Well With Cancer dial-up seminar series is presented by Good Samaritan Hospital. This education series is offered in collaboration with other Catholic Health Initiatives hospitals. A goal of the series is to make education and information more readily available to a greater number of cancer patients in our community.
